of the same caliber were stored in the barracks in Pilsen. The batteries had no signal equipment of their own. When required, the equipment was placed at their disposal by the regimental signal battery. The units of the 2nd Arty Regt in Pilsen had at their disposal only two passenger cars and one truck. For exercises they were loaned motor vehicles by other army units.

5. Firing practice was held near Frimda (Pfraumberg, 1 50/P 53) from 1 to 21 June 1950.
